What did you like best about staying in a homestay (optional question):

- You have a ready-made family to ask questions of and info if you need it, the cooked meals, the peacefulness of family life, the free wood from work and the log burner.
- It was stress free, as I just had to start work, and didn't have to worry about accommodation as well as everything else with moving to NZ
- Meals cooked, sky wifi package
- having meals cooked for you
- the house we are in it's like an extended family just so nice, like you're at home
- My hosts where just great, friendly, helpful... just a great. no hassle way to start out in a new country
- I got to know a local person with a wealth of local knowledge and experience. We have since become good friends.
- The fact that I moved into a nice house and felt very welcome.
- We didn't have home stay, as a family we wanted independent living accommodation which ContractAccom provided. We were able to come and go as we pleased and also cook when we wanted. The accommodation provided was excellent, exactly what we wanted. Glad we spoke to Jackie about our requirements before we arrived.
- The easiest part was not having to worry about a place to stay as i was coming alone over to a new country and city so hassle free and similar to living at home

- Sharing with other people, but that's just me
- Not much, it's great.
- Not being able to treat the house as your own
- Not having our own house
- Not particularly cheap
- The independence
